The Neglected Tropical Diseases (NTDs) group at GW invites you to a winter research talk:

Egestion of sand fly gut commensals during an infected bite favors Leishmania development by enhancing neutrophil-driven inflammation

Shaden Kamhawi, PhD

Laboratory of Malaria & Vector Research
Vector Molecular Biology Section
NIAID, National Institutes of Health
Rockville, Maryland

5:00 pm Wednesday, 17 January 2018
Ross Hall 602
pizza, beer, wine