The Health Equity Seminar Series

April 3, 2019 | 1:15 pm — 2:30 pm

Children’s National Medical Center
111 Michigan Ave NW
Main Hospital, 6th Floor, M7607

Every Researcher can be an Advocate:
Advancing Health Equity Through Policy and Advocacy

Investigators, research staff, and graduate students who attend will:

1. Describe the levels of advocacy in the healthcare setting — individual, system, community, and legislative.
2. Discuss steps for developing an advocacy plan to translate research into action.
3. Explore examples of research on mental health, gun violence prevention, and nutrition and obesity impacting policy and advocacy in the Washington, DC community and beyond.

Commentary and reflection provided by:

Dr. Leandra Godoy
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics
Clinical Psychologist

Dr. Shilpa Patel
Assistant Professor of Pediatrics
Pediatric Emergency Medicine

Dr. Yolanda Hancock
Adjunct Professor
GW Milken Institute
School of Public Health

Dr. Kavita Parikh
Associate Professor of Pediatrics
Pediatric Hospitalist

Dr. Stephen Thomas
Professor, Health Services Administration
Director, Maryland Center for Health Equality
University of Maryland

Tonya Vidal Kinlow
Vice President, Community Engagement,
Advocacy, and Government Affairs
Children’s National Medical Center

Lunch provided when registered by April 1.
WebEx available for off-site attendance.

Register at https://goo.gl/KzY5dg

Visit www.ctsicn.org/events to learn more.
Contact ctsicn@childrensnational.org with questions.

Upcoming seminars:
A Moving Conversation:
Research to Address Community Health Needs

Community Engagement in Clinical & Translational Research