Policy

Should a resident in an ACGME-accredited program have concerns or complaints about the residency program or the educational learning environment, it is recommended that the resident first address the issue with the Program Director and/or Department Chair. If the matter is still not resolved to his/her satisfaction, or if the resident believes real or perceived conflict of interest would preclude or render unproductive such a discussion, the resident may seek assistance from the GME Ombudsperson(s) for advice and council on the most appropriate course of action to address the concern. If at any time the resident is uncomfortable with these discussions or unsatisfied with previous counseling or recommendations, the resident may seek the assistance of the Associate Dean for Graduate Medical Education.
